It may be helpful to remember the NCIHC mission and vision:

The National Council on Interpreting in Health Care (NCIHC) is a multidisciplinary organization whose mission is to promote and enhance language access in health care in the United States.

Our vision is that one day all people will receive the same quality of healthcare, regardless of their English proficiency level. That being the case, we promote:

Social justice

- Respect for and acceptance of all peoples, including small communities, native peoples, and cultural communities whose tradition is oral
- The empowerment of Limited English Proficient Communities
- Culturally and linguistically appropriate practices in health care

FAQs NCIHC Language Access Champion

Who can make a nomination?

Any current NCIHC member in good standing can submit a nomination.

Must the candidate be an NCIHC member? What if I am not sure if they are a member?

Candidates for the Language Access Champion Award do not have to be an NCIHC member. However, current board members are not eligible.

Where can I find the nomination form?

Click on the 2025 NCIHC Language Access Champion Nomination link to submit your nomination.

Must the candidate be an interpreter?

The award may be given to anyone in the field of language access in healthcare, regardless of position. Thus, Directors/Coordinators of Interpreter Services, healthcare providers, administrative staff, managers, and other staff in addition to interpreters may be nominated. In addition, individuals in the larger healthcare arena, including but not limited to, insurers, funders, grant makers, policymakers, and other advocates may be nominated.

How will award recipients be determined?

The selection of the award recipient will be based on the strength of the particular nomination as deemed by the NCIHC Board of Directors.

When is the deadline for nominations?

The deadline for nominations is Tuesday, March 25, 2025, at 12:00 p.m. Eastern.

When will the award recipient be announced?

NCIHC will inform the recipient at least three weeks before the AMM to be held on Monday, April 28, 2025.

When will the award be presented?

NCIHC will announce the winner during our Annual Membership Meeting (AMM) on April 28, 2025, and formally recognize the winner in person at the NCIHC Congress, taking place September 25-27, 2025, in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Who were the previous honorees?

In 2024, NCIHC honored Ludmila Golovine, the founder and CEO of MasterWord Services in Houston, TX. Previous Language Access Champions can be found here.
